Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 25 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A bright but chilly Christmas Day, with some sunshine.

Today:
A cold, dry, bright start to Christmas Day morning. Some spells of sunshine are likely to develop at times through daylight hours, especially across north and east and it should remain dry. Feeling cold with rather strong easterly winds. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
A cold start with a frost likely, away from coastal areas. Clouding over from the south with rain arriving around midnight, with hill snow giving tricky driving conditions. Brisk winds. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Sunday:
Boxing Day cloudy with morning rain and snow petering out as milder air arrives and turning misty with hills becoming shrouded in fog. Lighter winds. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday rather cloudy and mainly dry with rain likely for Tuesday and remaining rather cold. Wednesday perhaps milder as wet and windy weather probably spreads across the region.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.